Preface

The term “Cosmic Order of Reincarnation” has never been alive, delivered, defined or discovered in any books of philosophy in the whole world. The term has become a spontaneous lineage that has arisen from a very deviously novel birth process and it has been transformed into a phenomenon recently born at the edge of my pen, originating from my creative imagination and philosophy. The term was seriously enclosed in various kinds of glory and diverse completion. It is now a fully loaded vocabulary of perfection that will crush “human expectation and fear” into pieces without any turning back as a running snow when the sunbeams glow, and the word “fear” is considered to be no longer necessary in the human dictionary. Fear is the word we often hear day after day but it will be taken away by my philosophy. Death is an inevitable and eternal truth and it can be neither avoided nor escaped by all beings. No one can place or demarcate where is death or destiny to be explicit in an exact established and succinct settled state. Therefore, what is beyond death has been a deep problematic and mysterious issue and a metaphysical question for humankind since no religion has been able to expound it unequivocally. Some philosophers bring forth and present the belief: "Nothing happens after the death of a human being." However, this doctrine cannot yet appease fear and expectation of human beings concerning the matter of the next existence. It is because when we look at our exterior world without consciousness, there are volitional activities such as; rising and falling, separation and union, and integration of various opposing parts in the world of vicious evolution, and we human beings are practically and visually experiencing along with this unknown intrinsic nature of cosmic order process. Regarding the two phenomena, viz. rising falling and link things together can also be said as events, incessantly revolving like Ferris wheel. These two phenomena are being seen and experienced by every human being and of which no human being can make any denial. No matter how these two unknown phenomena are going round and round in a cyclic manner, if we do not have the certain destiny for the next existence our fear and expectation will never go away entirely and reliably from the hearts of human beings.

The world, in each and every problem of it, needs definite, decisive and reliable belief.

If there is no such definite belief where one's destiny will go after his death, fear and expectation will creep in, sneaking into the worrisome hearts of human beings, uninvited. Doubts, indecision of mind, dubious state of mind would teem into a jungle. Indeed, we will be in complete darkness as where we even cannot naturally and clearly see our own nose then doubt, uncertainty in mind, lack of trust will rule our poor and unsettled mind. Fear, expectation, anxiety and illusions are inner attitudes and birth, life and death are outer aspects. So far, there are no solutions for the final destination after death. The Bible asserts that if mankind believes in Jesus Christ and dies, he will be reunited with God after death. Unbelievers will go to hell. According to Islam, this worldly life is a preparation for the eternal life after death. Unbelievers will go to the hell of Jahannum. Hindus believe there is life after death. Unbelievers will go to hell of Narak. In addition, what you will become after your death depends on your own action and you do not want to go to the hell of miserable realms in current Buddhism and so on.

The dead body of mind and matter do not turn into anything; they just end and are completely lost. A person is a series of four abstracts: earth, heat, water and air elements that go from the end of consciousness, mental states and body, which is brought about by the four causes of the mind, the actions, heat and cold of seasonal changes and nutritive essence. When the time comes, those series have been rising and passing away to break up for one existence. Physical and mental lives break up simultaneously in the end of our last breath. This we call passing away or death. Actually, there exists no person or being but a series of waves and particles or matter and force, and it produces mind. This series called human has ceased in the previous existence. It does not move to the next life. Therefore, a human that is born again is not the same person moving from the old existence but a person of mind and matter is born anew as a result of reasonable cause.

Neither other dimension nor powerful beings are making any decision at all.

Every gardener in each and every country in the world, for example, has no dubious mind what kind of plant of the seed he sows will germinate. There is no reason for a grower to think that radish-seed he grows will give forth a sprout of sweet potato, or a tendril of gourd or a pumpkin. He will always think in his mind with no skepticism at all that such and such seeds he sows will bear the fruit of the same kind. Surely, he will be beyond the realm of any suspicion. Suspicion of past and present will disappear from him. As soon as you utter the incantation "The Cosmic Order of Re-incarnation", colonies of skepticism about the future and the past will disappear without a trace. Moreover, containers of purgatory and hell with which current Buddhism, Hinduism, Christianity and Islam have been threatening humankind will crash and become as trashy as obsolete and unusable rubbish. Thus, the so-called hell, a non-existent, chilling, deadly, unbearable and horrible kingdom, will perish. At this stage, hell-boilers which are bitter, unbearable and terrible scary as goose bump as hairs stand on end like a touch of icy-cold hand at one's back, will all get broken with crack asunder. At the same time, albeit one sees visions in his mind of five hundred or a thousand enticingly beautiful angels on each side; beautiful, brilliant and shining abodes, one-foot or two feet-mattresses to lie on or sleep on. And pillows soft, tender and bright, all these trappings including the abodes of gods and all celestial beings where place has lack of food and those beings only can take the smell of ambrosia as the saying so, all will get tumbled down, collapsed and disappeared from him.

Modern man has explored in and out of the earth and outer worlds through and through for decades. He has tested this world from its lowest part to its brim through long research by way of investigation and scrutinizing many times. However, there came out no result at all. He has never discovered either heaven or hell. Therefore, when you die, you do not need to worry about going to hell. On the other hand, there is no heaven. No heaven where you can find fairies, goddesses, luxury, a paradise, never ending joy and happiness! There is no such thing as celestial being. Because when you grow grass, why will it bear avocado? When a man dies, how can he possibly go to heaven? When a man dies, he must come back to the reality of the human world. That is the natural process of our cosmic order. Man has researched thoroughly within and without the earth and has found neither hell nor heaven. It is men who created heavens and hells instead. So, when a man dies, where else can he be for the destiny other than this world? You will find true answers in this book by using your own critical thinking. Only when you come to distinctly understand the true nature of death, fear and expectation that is being entangled in mind, will disappear automatically.

Therefore, it is crystal clear for mankind to be born again as a man if he dies. Therefore, humankind will overcome suspicions, doubts, skepticism and illusions and understand the nature of death by causes and effects.

'If there were in fact any chances and opportunities to exist after man's death, there would be no other being a man would become but to be a man again.'

For man there is no other place to go to after death. To be born again as a man after death is the Cosmic Order of Reincarnation. As soon as you understand the Cosmic

Order of Reincarnation,

1. You see the truth;
2. You hear the truth;
3. You smell and taste the truth;
4. You feel the truth and finally
5. You can reason the truth.

Only when you understand clearly and distinctly the true nature of death by seeing, smelling, hearing, feeling and reasoning it:

1. You will be free from doubts and skepticism;
2. You will be free from uncertainties;
3. You will be free from fear and expectation and attain courage;
4. You will know the non-existence of hells and heavens;

Let us explain candidly in detail. A man sees a yellow and ripe fruit with his own eyes. (Seeing the truth) Then he hears the name of the fruit and knows it is the mango from India. (Hearing the truth) Then he smells and tastes the mango and knows how it smells and tastes. (Smelling and tasting the truth) Finally, he will reason and know all tastes and the essence of all nutrition of the mango all over his body. (Reasoning the truth) Those four kinds of knowledge of investigation make man perfect through research and inquiry and free him from skepticism. Alternatively, has he not been free from uncertainties and suspicions? Has he not been free from illusions too? Have his fear and expectation not ceased to exist in his mind as everything has become unequivocal? Has this enlightenment not buried the grasping traditionally preserved from generation to generation? Has the superstition or grasping not become untraceable? Only when the superstition or grasping disappears, man will be able to criticize, destroy and take the root out of fear, expectation and all requisite elements of superstition or grasping. Thus, the cosmic order of reincarnation will naturally develop and vividly appear as a phenomenon. In the course of this evolution, knowledge will increase and multiply itself and man will become a perfect enlightened one, different from those who live in fear and with expectation. In that case, it will be permanence for *stream-winners*¹ who proceeded to advanced enlightenment systematically according to ancient Pali words that prescribed methodology on permanence. If so, what is permanent? That question is worth being asked since nobody has asked it before. Thus, only the Cosmic Order of Reincarnation is permanent. Mankind can attain advanced knowledge only through understanding of the Cosmic Order of Reincarnation. Humankind can even become a God through the Cosmic Order of Reincarnation. Because the arising and the falling are the reverse and repeated truth about this natural order of the extent of 1 Noble person who has realized the stream and is on the first of the eight stages leading to becoming a paragon of saintliness and ultimately deliverance called "stream-winner". He is however, not yet free from the trammels of recurring reincarnation of rebirths and may belong to one of the following three classes of stream-winners: 1. One who will be reborn only once to become a holy person innocent of defiling passions and enter deliverance at the end of this final reincarnation: 2. One who will be reborn from two to six times to finally become a holy person innocent of defiling passions and enter deliverance at the end of this final reincarnation: 3. One who will be reborn seven times to finally become a holy person innocent of defiling passions and enter deliverance at the end of this final reincarnation..

unending cycle of rebirths which is the process from birth consciousness, to passive state of mind to death consciousness occurring one after another in this ceaseless cycle. Therefore, reincarnation can be counted as the permanent order of the cosmic nature. When mankind dies and his body perishes, it is not possible to go to hell and become a purgatory being, a departed ghost, the host of a demon or to go to heaven and become a celestial being, a god, or a creature with a radiant body. This fact will be clarified in my book. If hells and heavens were for real, prophets and their followers' advanced knowledge would be just a bunch of lies made from twisted truth, jumping back and forth, and beating around the bush besides burying the permanent nature of human beings. In that case, it would be much farther from the natural law of advancing towards final enlightenment. As the saying goes, only when things evolved according to the Cosmic Order of Reincarnation, a man named 'Thumeda' acquired virtues life after life. After 40¹⁴⁰ the four irreckonable eons² and 100,000 worlds' fulfillment of 10 perfections³, he finally reincarnated as 'Siddhartha, the fully Exalted One' and at last attained the supreme wisdom of enlightenment in Asia. It was the full moon day of May (Wednesday) in 589 B.C and it could be found on the calendar of the Burmese era. Moreover, methodologies on ameliorating or deteriorating life will be developed more explicitly and candidly. This reference will be a combating warfare of empowerment that will elimi-
